MOTORIST SHOOT AT GAS STATION PROPRIETOR AFTER MAKING PURCHASE, THEN SPEEDS AWAY FROM EDGELY

EDGELY, Nov. 28.—Without the slightest provocation, a motorist, after getting gasoline and oil, shot at the proprietor of a service station here, Saturday afternoon, leaped into his car and sped away. He did not pay for the purchases.

At about four o'clock the motorist pulled into the service station of Thomas M. Foster, Bristol Pike, near the Paterson Parchment Paper Co. plant. He told Foster to fill up the tank with gasoline and check the oil. Fourteen gallons of gasoline and five quarts of oil were placed in the car. In the meantime the motorist walked into the garage and then came out. He ordered two more quarts of oil to be placed in the back of his car as reserve. Foster then started to return to the garage when the motorist complained of the cold. As Foster started to enter the garage he heard the crack of a pistol. Without the slightest warning or the exchange of words, the motorist fired at Foster, leaped into his car and drove off. The shot did not hit Foster. Two other men at work in the garage came running

"HAUNTED HIGH" WILL BE STAGED BY PUPILS

Class of 1950, Bensalem Township, Rehearsing For December 9th Affair

A TINGLING COMEDY

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Nov. 28.—The Class of 1950, Bensalem township high school, plans to present one of Orville Shapp's best and most popular plays, "The Haunted High School." The play will be presented on Friday, December 9, at 8:15 p. m., in Bensalem township high school auditorium.

This brisk and tingling comedy offers the young folks the chance they have long been waiting for, an opportunity to play themselves and to shine in the type of parts they know and understand—that as high school students. At Eagle high school, where the entire action of the play takes place, it has become a tradition to celebrate "Youths' Day" once every year by reversing the usual procedure and having the students change places with the teachers, the teachers taking the place of the pupils. Shortly before the play opens, Mr. Southard, the principal of Eagle high, is run over by an automobile, resulting in his death. Two other unexplainable accidents occur, adding to what turns out to be a baffling mystery. Events pile up in rapid order, but it isn't until the last act, just before the final curtain, that the mystery is solved in a series of comedy scenes that, it is said, "will bring down the house."

BIG BIRDS GROUNDED

In a week four of the Air Force's B-29 Superforts came to grief. The week before that two crashed. In all, 25 airmen have been killed and 20 others are missing. Except in the case of two of the big ships (a pair collided in the fog over Stockton, Calif.) unexplained engine trouble has been the common denominator of the crashes. Now the big brass of the Air Force has issued an order grounding all B-29s that have not undergone engine modernization.

The Air Force isn't saying how many planes this involves. In figures given a House committee last summer, the B-29 strength was supposed to be 10 groups — nearly 400 planes. Of these a certain number had already been "modernized" through installation of new engines.

The original power plants of the wartime B-29s were radial engines turning up 2,200 horsepower each. Later versions are reported to be powered by radials developing at least 3,500 horsepower per engine.

The order has worldwide ramifications. It will pull down weather planes and patrol planes operating in England, the Mediterranean, the Near East and the Far East. How fast the "modernization" and refitting of the obsolete and potentially dangerous ships can be effected is another thing the air force is mum about.

TOO MUCH TO EXPECT

With one of every four aged Americans on the public assistance rolls now, there is real reason for concern about the future if the old American habit of saving against the needs of declining years suffers further setbacks.

Frugality certainly has taken a beating in this country in recent years. Many of the younger generation have the idea they do not need to lay anything away, that the "government" will provide everything. They should pause and do some really heavy thinking about that.

Average payment to the aged today is $43.83 a month. Would it be possible for anyone to live well on that? More will be paid when they get old, the unconcerned say.

A larger monetary sum, perhaps, but how much will money be worth then? In the past decade the purchasing power of money has declined at least 50 per cent. At that inflationary rate a pension of $100 a month would be little more than the skimpy amount the aged are receiving today.

Pensions are a good idea for those who create the funds to pay them and are active as citizens to try to keep the value of money stable. But to live on the principle of the grasshopper now and expect that in old age the government will provide a good living is just too sweet a thought to be realizable in this practical world.

It was probably a woman who said woman flees from temptation but man just crawls away, hoping it will overtake him.

ever struck Bristol is on. The excitement prevailing resembles that which periodically strikes western settlements. Property has been purchased, negotiated and options obtained by a syndicate from Washington and Beaver streets on the north to Otter street on the south.

The deal involves the sale of the Howell property consisting of 57 acres. The whole town is on the qui vive regarding the mysterious purchases. . . . The first inkling that there was "something doing" was obtained when Neil McIlvaine, at the Corson sale, purchased ten tracts. Upon examination it was found that the land bought by Mr.
McIlvaine was in a straight line.
Visions of a great factory arose.
Rumor had it that it was to be a shoe factory, a brewery, a Catholic orphanage, steel plant, a trolley power house and car barns, and whatnot. . . .

Since the Corson sale Mr. McIl-vaine has kept on purchasing houses and lots like a prince. . . .

The Fish lot on Spruce street belonging to Bristol Building Association was purchased by Patrick Barrett for $390. This lot was offered for sale two weeks ago for $100. . . .

The guess that seems the most rational is that the properties are being purchased by the Pennsylboilers of 20 horse power each were taken out to make place for the new giant and a portion of the side of the brick boiler room had to be removed to make an opening to accommodate it. . . . The water company has an 80 horse-power boiler which is also in use.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Bristol school board held on Monday evening the treasurer was instructed to pay off a $1000 bond, thus reducing the bonded indebtedness on the new high school building to $26,000. . . .

The annual election of officers and banquet of Bristol Lodge, No.
25, F. & A. M., occurred at the Temple on Cedar street last Saturday.
The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Thomas Scott, worshipful master; Stanford K. Runyan, senior warden; Isaac Parsons, Jr., junior warden;

William H. Watson, secretary; Harvey S. Rue, treasurer; John G.

E. Scott, Byron C. Foster and B. F.
Gilkeson, trustees; John G. Vandegrift, representative to grand lodge.

HOMETOWN

Mother and Dad holding secret conferences . . .
Junior being very well behaved . . . Christmas is definitely on its way!

We think that this Christmas will be one of the biggest and happiest ever. And to make it extra merry, Bristol stores have their shelves stocked to the rafters . . . and their showcases are fairly bulging with nationally-known brands of "just what you've always wanted."

Now the only question is, how to take the bustle and push . . . the fatigue and short tempers, out of your annual Yuletide shopping tour. We've a suggestion.
Shop at home, where you will be served by friends and neighbors . . . where you will be served best, because your salespeople know you! Shop at home anything and everything that's available anywhere else. Shop at home because you are supporting the their interest in better schools . . . better churches . . . better public services.

Let's all shop at home this year, and we'll be rich in the knowledge that this Christmas, by shopping right here, we've contributed to a better Holiday Season for ourselves . . . and a better community for all.

Take a long Look
at yourself

in a Pittsburgh Plate Glass Door Mirror

YOU CAN MEET THE GAZE of a critical world serenely if you check your appearance in a Pittsburgh Plate Glass Door Mirror before going out. It tells you your ensemble and make-up are right, banishes fears of crooked seams and "showing" slip. You see yourself as others see you—from head to toe.

THE MAN OF THE HOUSE needs a full-length mirror, too. No more crouching and craning to see if everything is satisfactory. The full-length mirror fits the man—he doesn't have to try to fit the mirror! He'll feel better, he'll look better when his full-length mirror tells him he's perfectly groomed.

LUCKY THE CHILD who has a full-length mirror in her room. When a "young lady" can view herself from every angle she will be more careful of her appearance . . . more likely to develop good posture and poise. She'll take pride in her room, too, when it has a full-length mirror just like Mother's and Daddy's.

EVERY HOME NEEDS at least one full-length door mirror . . . one at least 5 1/2 feet high. Most homes need two or three. What ever the size of your door, one of our four standard size mirrors will fit it perfectly. Any of these sizes available in a simple, unframed Venetian style to be installed with clips. Installation material supplied with mirrors.

BIG BIRDS GROUNDED

In a week four of the Air Force's B-29 Superforts came to grief. The week before that two crashed. In all, 25 airmen have been killed and 20 others are missing. Except in the case of two of the big ships (a pair collided in the fog over Stockton, Calif.) unexplained engine trouble has been the common denominator of the crashes. Now the big brass of the Air Force has issued an order grounding all B-29s that have not undergone engine modernization. The Air Force isn't saying how many planes this involves. In figures given a House committee last summer, the B-29 strength was supposed to be 10 groups — nearly 400 planes. Of these a certain number had already been "modernized" through installation of new engines. The original power plants of the wartime B-29s were radial engines turning up 2,200 horsepower each. Later versions are reported to be powered by radials developing at least 3,500 horsepower per engine. The order has worldwide ramifications. It will pull down weather planes and patrol planes operating in England, the Mediterranean, the Near East and the Far East. How fast the "modernization" and refitting of the obsolete and potentially dangerous ships can be effected is another thing the air force is mum about.

TOO MUCH TO EXPECT

With one of every four aged Americans on the public assistance rolls now, there is real reason for concern about the future. If the old American habit of saving against the needs of declining years suffers further setbacks, Frugality certainly has taken a beating in this country in recent years. Many of the younger generation have the idea they do not need to lay anything away, that the "government" will provide everything. They should pause and do some really heavy thinking about that. Average payment to the aged today is $43.83 a month. Would it be possible for anyone to live well on that? More will be paid when they get old, the unconcerned say. A larger monetary sum, perhaps, but how much will money be worth then? In the past decade the purchasing power of money has declined at least 50 per cent. At that inflationary rate a pension of $100 a month would be little more than the skimpy amount the aged are receiving today. Pensions are a good idea for those who create the funds to pay them and are active as citizens to try to keep the value of money stable. But to live on the principle of the grasshopper now and expect that in old age the government will provide a good living is just too sweet a thought to be realizable in this practical world. It was probably a woman who said woman flees from temptation but man just crawls away, hoping it will overtake him.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol Nov. 29, 1900. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

The Bridge and Mattress Company, which for the past six months had a successful business in New-own, closed its headquarters there, and last Friday moved to 313 Mill street, Bristol. . . . Over 1000 mattresses have been made by these people in Bucks County . . .

Horace Myers and W. Harrison, formerly of Enid, who were at Columbus, O., barracks for some time, sailed from Brooklyn on the United States transport Kipatrick, Tuesday, Nov. 13, with a number of Uncle Sam's soldiers for the Philippines. The first stop of the transport was at Gibraltar.

Miss May Betz, daughter of John P. Betz, was on Monday promoted to the highest class in the Philadelphia Academy of Fine Arts . . .

Frank Loderbough and Owen Evans, Jr., have opened a dancing academy in Evans hall . . .

William E. Doron had his new coal hoisting apparatus in operation for the first time yesterday morning. When it gets in complete working order it will be able to unload and put in the bins 300 tons of coal a day.

With Mrs. John K. King as superintendent, a sewing school was inaugurated at the Methodist Church last Saturday afternoon with an attendance of 50. Special classes for older people will be formed for embroidery and renaisance work . . .

Take a long Look
at yourself

in a Pittsburgh Plate Glass Door Mirror

YOU CAN MEET THE GAZE of a critical world serenely if you check your appearance in a Pittsburgh Plate Glass Door Mirror before going out. It tells you your ensemble and make-up are right, banishes fears of crooked seams and "showing" slip. You see yourself as others see you—from head to toe.

THE MAN OF THE HOUSE needs a full-length mirror, too. No more crouching and craning to see if everything is satisfactory. The full-length mirror fits the man—he doesn't have to try to fit the mirror! He'll feel better, he'll look better when his full-length mirror tells him he's perfectly groomed.

LUCKY THE CHILD who has a full-length mirror in her room. When a "young lady" can view herself from every angle she will be more careful of her appearance . . . more likely to develop good posture and poise. She'll take pride in her room, too, when it has a full-length mirror just like Mother's and Daddy's.

EVERY HOME NEEDS at least one full-length door mirror . . . one at least 5 1/2 feet high. Most homes need two or three. Whatever the size of your door, one of our four standard size mirrors will fit it perfectly. Any of these sizes available in a simple, unframed Venetian style to be installed with clips. Installation material supplied with mirrors.

Motorist Shoots At Gas Station Proprietor

by a motorist operating a car bearing a license number which tallied with that on a tag found by police on the rear of Hale's machine.

Detectives, in asking that Hale be held "for investigation," declared that Hale has a police record, including an assault and battery charge with intent to kill, filed at Bethlehem, Pa.

Falcone was wounded in the lower right chest just after he stopped his machine on Roosevelt boulevard to report to Park Guard Spurdens that another motorist had forced his machine to the curb at the Oxford circle, after first trying to cut in front of his car and shouting epithets at him.

The offending motorist had stopped at the circle meanwhile to talk with a man whose car he had bumped in the rear. The motorist, police said, presumably started up again and, seeing Falcone approach the guard, drew a pistol and fired at the youth as he passed the intersection.

The gunmen sped away, but not before Spurdens was able to note his license number. Falcone was taken to Frankford Hospital.

Bristol Township Chief of Police Joseph Seader was with Philadelphia park guards Saturday and yesterday, investigating the case.

Today's Quiet Moment

By Rev. Elwood Thornton Dyson
Acting Minister
Newportville Presbyterian Church

Eternal God and Father of us all, we thank Thee that Thou hast made us restless until we find our rest in Thee. Amid all the excited voices of this present world, only One spoke invitingly, "Peace." It said, "My peace I give unto you." And it was so. Grant, Lord, that our souls may know that peace again, for without it, pettiness is born into our human striving, but with it, Thou dost redeem the common tasks of our little day. So give us Thy peace that all our effort and every human relationship may be blessed, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

ST. ANN'S SHOWS GROUND MIGHT IN TACONY GAME

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28—A determined St. Ann's A. A. grid team displayed its most brilliant ground might of the season here yesterday as it overcame a fighting Tacony Boys' Club eleven, 25-12, in a hard-fought game. By virtue of its triumph, St. Ann's entered the finals of the Northeast Football Conference and will meet Ditman A. A. next Sunday for the playoff championship.

The "Saints" exhibited fine co-operation and co-ordination in subduing their foes. The line and backfield worked in unison, blocking and hole-openings were at their best.

But best of all to watch was the sparkling lateraling of the ball by the Purple and Gold. All decked out in their newly-purchased all-gold uniforms with purple stripes on the pants, the sights of gold-clad players passing the ball in basketball fashion thrilled the fans to no end and had the Tacony team dizzy. Double-laterals, triple laterals, and even a lateral where four players handled the pigskin were dished out to the Tacony team with two of the laterals netting touchdowns.

"Bill" Marion, Joe Elmer, "Howie" Keys, and "Moe" Caucei scored the St. Ann's six-pointers with Nick Lomma booting the only point after touchdown. St. Ann's took an early lead but Larry Monaco tied the score for the Boys' Club. The "Saints" scored twice on nice runs in the second session to take a 19-6 half-time edge.

In the third quarter, Tacony again pushed over a touchdown to shave the Bristol team's lead to 19-12. The "Saints" made an insurance touchdown on its remodeled "fuzzy" formation play in the final session. Big "Bill" Foltz, who recently completed a fine season at West Chester, played defensive ball in the St. Ann's forward line and broke up many of the Tacony plays. For a while, it seemed that Foltz was playing in the Tacony backfield, he was back there so much breaking up plays.

The losing team went down fighting and it wasn't until the last St. Ann's run of 57 yards for a touchdown that it gave up. When the tilt ended, St. Ann's "Inkey" Schneider intercepted a pass on the 30 and lateraled to John Antoni. Antoni wedged his way to the 3-yard line as the final whistle sounded.

Tacony had more first downs than the winners, chalking up ten to St. Ann's 6. But the Boys' Club made several of these first downs on penalties, St. Ann's having a total of 115 yards imposed on it, while Tacony had 65. One of the penalties ultimately led to Tacony's first touchdown.
